ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

The holiday season had some effect on the size of the gatherings at the various lodge meetings the past week. In some cases members were out of town and therefore unable to attend. One of the biggest events of this month will be the bazaar to be conducted at the State Armory on McKinley avenue the latter part of the month by the Spanish War Veterans, R. O. Fletcher post, No. 4, of the American Legion and Companies A and D of the State Guards. The executive committee of the bazaar which is headed by Charles J. Rudick, is making elaborate preparations for the indoor event which is to be run for the day.

AMERICAN LEGION.

The secretary of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, has received from the secretary of R. S. Griswold camp, No. 5, United Spanish War Veterans, an invitation to all the members of Fletcher post to be present at their installation of officers at the State Armory, on McKinley avenue, Monday evening January 12. It is expected that all members of Fletcher post will avail themselves of this opportunity to witness the installation ceremony of the Spanish War Veterans which will be conducted in the usual impressive manner. There was no meeting of the post this week on account of the holiday season.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS.

Clara Barton Tent, No. 7, Daughters of Veterans, met for their regular meeting recently. The gathering was called to order by the president, M. Florence Dean. The usual routine of business was transacted and one application was received. On Tuesday, January 6th, the annual installation of officers will take place. The department president has appointed Mrs. Lillian E. Brewster to install the officers elected to serve during 1920. The tent closed with a song and salute to the flag. The tent sent out at Christmas about 16 baskets of fruit to soldiers who have lost their wives and to widows of honorary members and others.

ODD FELLOWS.

The election of officers of Lucas lodge, No. 11, I. O. O. F., was held on Monday evening in Odd Fellows hall with a large attendance of members. Herbert Brown, the noble grand, presided. The election resulted as follows: Noble grand, Robert Richardson; vice grand, Fred V. Amburn; secretary, John P. Amburn; financial secretary, James H. Smith; treasurer, Frank M. Greep; trustees for three years, Arthur Fowler. The installation will take place at the next regular meeting.

Fairview lodge of Odd Fellows of Groton elected officers at the session Monday evening as follows: Noble grand, Ray T. Davis; vice grand, Leonard M. Sawyer; recording secretary, I. H. Poppe; financial secretary, H. A. Marquardt; treasurer, John A. Irving; trustees for three years, Arthur Fowler. The installation will take place at the first Monday evening in January. Three candidates received the initiatory degree.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

Norwich grange, No. 172, P. of H., at their meeting in Grange hall Wednesday evening elected the following officers: Worthing master, John R. Lyman; overseer, Mrs. Maud G. Bliss; lecturer, Mrs. Minnie Boon; steward, Fred Lett; financial secretary, Charles A. Hagberg; chaplain, John O. Peckham; treasurer, Edward Cook; secretary, Mrs. Lila Saunders; gate keeper, Frank Baker; Ceres, Miss Helen B. Moore; Pomona, Miss Helen Bruno; Flora, Miss Agnes Fleming; lady assistant, Miss Haze Banfield; member of executive committee for three years, John E. Fanning. Refreshments were served.

REBEKAHS.

Rebekahs' day as observed at the Odd Fellows home at Fairview, Groton, New Year's day. It was attended by a large delegation of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from this part of the state, and the event was honored by the presence of grand officers and past grand officers of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. As customary, the donation of gifts to the residents was the feature of the occasion. There are 37 residents at the home, 20 men and 7 women, and each was presented a quantity of wearing apparel as expressed by their wishes and $2.25 in money. The value of the gifts exceeded that of any former year since the inauguration of the home. The gifts amounted to about $425.

Among the distinguished guests were Marcus L. Reynolds of Bridgeport and Wallace R. Johnson of New London, president and secretary, respectively. The home corporation, Mrs. Hattie Fisher of Newington Junction, president of the Rebekah state assembly; Mrs. Grace Willey of Norwich, state vice president; Mrs. William S. Hitchcock of New Britain, state warden; Past Grand Master Harry Hirsch of New London and Mrs. Kate Reynolds of Bridgeport, past president of the Rebekah state assembly.

WAUREGAN

Wauregan Congregational church, Rev. William Fryling, pastor. Mr. and Mrs. Fryling have expressed thanks to the church for the generous Christmas gift, also for many individual remembrances, stating that they feel cheered and encouraged by these tokens of good will. The Sunday morning sermon will be on Our Great National and Individual Privileges. In the evening the pastor will begin a course of sermons on Striking Scenes in the Old Testament History. 1. Rebekah in the Well—An Oriental Love Story. Church school at 12. Christian Endeavor meeting Thursday at 7:30.

WOODSTOCK VALLEY

Miss Nona Converse spent Christmas with her mother, Mrs. Emma Blackmar. Miss Florence W. Kenyon is with relatives in Putnam this week. David Blackmar spent the week end in New Britain. Several from here attended the meeting Tuesday of the Woodstock Timber Detecting Society at North Woodstock. Ferdinand Kenyon of the U. S. S. Henderson, has been home this week on a two days furlough.

PROPOSED STORAGE RESERVOIR ON CHIPPEWA RIVER.
During the war the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, cooperated with the United States Fuel Administration in studies and investigations undertaken for the conservation of coal. The possibilities of saving coal in different parts of the United States by interconnecting electric power systems, by substituting hydroelectric power for steam-generated power, by constructing storage reservoirs, and by closing down competing power plants in places where one power plant could better handle the total load were investigated at the request of the Fuel Administration by the engineers of the Geological Survey.
An investigation was made to determine the added water power that could be obtained on Chippewa River, Wisconsin, by the construction of a large storage reservoir on the headwaters of the river. The report on this investigation was prepared in August, 1918, by W. G. Hoyt, district engineer of the Geological Survey. The proposed reservoir, known as the Pa Kwa Wang reservoir, was to be located in sec. 2, T. 39 N., R. 6 W., Sawyer County, Wis., and would have had a water-surface of 26 square miles and a capacity of about 12 billion cubic feet. The report describes the method used to determine the probable flow at the site of the proposed reservoir and at the several developed and undeveloped power sites on the river. It also shows the amount of power which could be obtained with normal conditions of flow at 11 developed and undeveloped sites and the increased power possible at each site as a result of the operation of the reservoir. Quicksilver in 1918. Although quicksilver is not a precious metal and, unlike iron and copper, is not one of the great basic materials of industry, nevertheless its unique position as the only metal that is liquid at ordinary temperatures and its varied and special applications in science and the arts give it peculiar interest. The report of the Department of the Interior, on quicksilver in 1918, prepared by P. L. Ransome, not only gives the domestic production as a whole and by States for the year, but presents also the latest obtainable figures for the world's production and contains information on the quantity and character of ore treated, methods of reduction, prices, imports and exports, and uses of quicksilver. The report also contains notes on the operations at individual mines and a table wherein are listed most of the quicksilver mines of the United States with notes on the character of deposit, workings, reduction equipment, and total output of each mine. Used for Colored Glass. The production of selenium in 1918 was 102,694 pounds, valued at $208,540, an increase of 162 per cent in quantity and 185 per cent in value as compared with figures for the previous year. Of the quantity sold during 1918 about 60 per cent was used as a coloring and deoxidizing agent by the glass industry, according to the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior.

Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit are sweet

They are widely noted for their unusually high sugar content.

In fact, Sealdsweet fruits need little if any sugar to make them palatable.

These luscious food-fruits of Florida are unsurpassed in flavor as well as in sweetness.

The juice has a food value that makes the liberal and varied use of these fruits, a source of household economy.

Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit, fully ripened on the trees, possess tonic properties which render them highly useful in maintaining and restoring health.

Because they are so full of sweet juice, Sealdsweet fruits offer you full value for the money you are asked to pay for them. Your grocer or fruit dealer can supply you and will do so if you insist.

This is the fourth in a series of eight advertisements each emphasizing one of the points of superiority of Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit—the fifth will appear in this space one week from today.

Sealdsweet Grapefruit Christmas Salad

Prepare equal amounts of chopped celery, chestnuts or hickory-nuts, and Sealdsweet grapefruit pulp. Bind with mayonnaise and serve on a bed of lettuce. Garnish with sweet red or green pepper rings or cherries and place a sprig of holly berries in the center of the salad.

Free Book, "Florida's Food-Fruits"

A number of other salads, sauces and dressings are described in the handsome and practical book, "Florida's Food-Fruits," which also gives many other recipes for the use of Sealdsweet oranges and grapefruit in cookery and confections, and contains numerous helpful suggestions for serving these fruits in their natural state.
